Discussion Highlights:
Jason - financial value of HIE system is okay, but need to keep in mind value to individuals understanding their personal health care; very valuable and that is who it is about
Randy - concern: make sure its pulled from the market as it exists, not pushed down people's throats; the cash outlay is now, so we need to be aware of the short-term value not just the long-term value
Ray - national system (NHIN) is the ultimate goal of the feds; meaningful use is starting the federal guidelines with that in mind
Mary - how much does the average system cost; Bryan said there are many, many options but typically about $10,000/doctor; non-web is about double
